Generic Skills for Energy Transition

What is vETskillinG?

Five schools* from different parts of Europe are joining forces to develop a digital learning program aimed at strengthening the generic skills of students pursuing engineering courses.

This collaboration aims to improve future technicians' competencies in communication, teamwork, leadership, and problem solving. The motivation behind this initiative is to increase the success rate and effectiveness of technical projects, especially those related to the crucial energy transition.

This program is a response to the growing demand for technical professionals who not only possess technical knowledge but can also communicate and collaborate effectively within multidisciplinary teams.

Five students at each school can take part once at one of the locations stated below:

When / where does vETskillinG take place?

- NL / Dordrecht 16. – 20.09.2024
- CH / St.Gallen 04. – 08.11.2024
